THE RAM

ENTER TO LEARN, DEPART TO SERVE

Foreword

The 1973 Ram is a pictorial history of the past academic year at Winston-Salem State University.

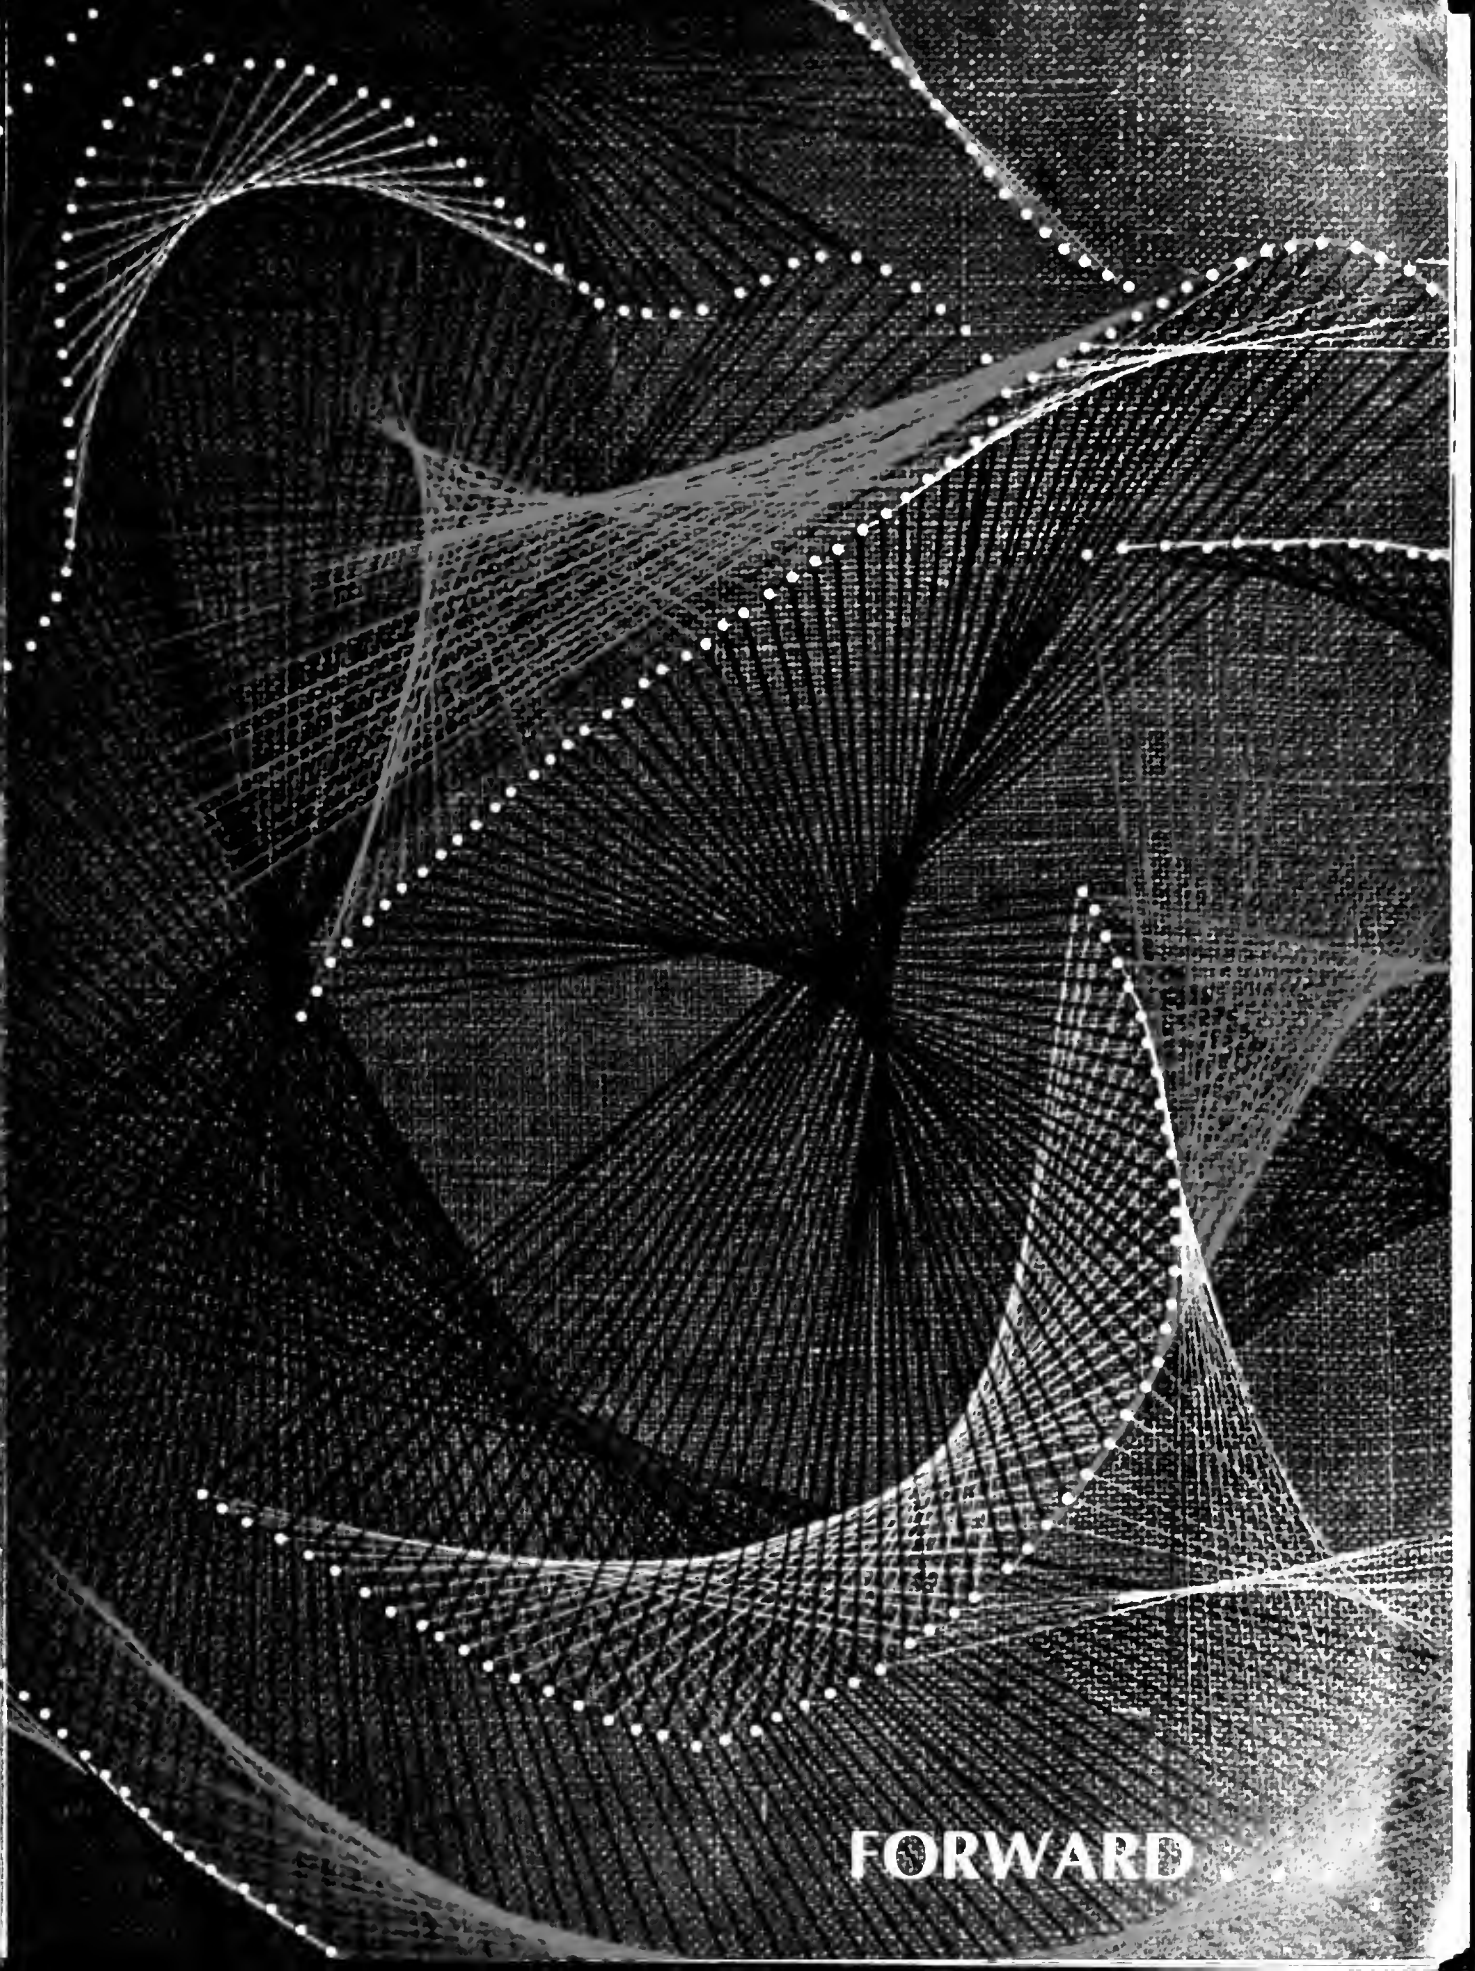

As we glance back to 1972-73 we see that a fusion of our efforts, minds, hearts, and spirits helped us develop a better relationship with our community and among ourselves. We had less and less time for the trivial and more and more thought and concern for pertinent issues. The student as student-humanitarian had begun to assert himself.

Good fortune was not always ours, but we met every reversal with an undaunted Ram spirit that would not let us admit defeat.

For many of us, the end of this year marks the arrival at a destination, for others, it's just the beginning of a new journey. Whatever the circumstances, this year has indeed been a memorable one. It is the purpose of this book to keep these memories alive.

We sincerely hope this purpose has been served.

DEDICATION

He marches to a "different drummer," this man is such an individual, and with this individualism, he has led us, the 1973 Senior Class, to the end of our journey.

When like deserted children, we were left without an advisor, he stepped in to fill the void. Since that time, three years ago, he has been an integral part of our every endeavor.

Goodbye, MR. ROLAND WATTS, the Senior Class dedicates its claim to immortality — THE 1973 RAM

APPRECIATION

Mr. F. A. Griffin

Behind every progressive force there is always a man behind the scenes who has worked hard for achievement, but refuses the glory of that achievement. To you Mr. Griffin, the Senior Class of 1973 gives you your glory. To us you have been counselor, a father, a connections man, and a sincere friend indeed. You have given us your time — on and off the job — to help us to help ourselves. We salute you, Mr. F. A. Griffin.

Mr. B. T. Couch

Many of us have known you as the man to see in case of a lost mealcard, but there are those who know you as an honest employer, and have witnessed your diligence in preparing banquets and dinners for those "after-six" occasions all accented with your personal touch. For all of your services, Mr. Couch, the Class of 1973 thanks you.

Chancellor and Mrs. Kenneth
R. Williams Touring India

... TO OUR CHANCELLOR

Dr. K. R. Williams

During our stay here at Winston-Salem State University you have been an example of one who has at heart the interests of all students. Your sincere and tireless efforts for the betterment of the University has resulted in a bigger and better institution of higher learning.

To us you have been a great leader and friend, one who was never too busy to listen to our many and complexing problems. You have shown to us the need for preparing ourselves to live in a changing world. The inspiration which you have given us through your life and works will forever remain with us as an inspiration to greater achievement in years to come.

ADMINISTRATION

Administration

The brain behind the smooth operation of the combined personnel and facilities at Winston Salem State University appear on these pages — Our Administration. To them goes a lot of credit for the many and varied improvements in all of the departments of the institution. Truly they receive their share of criticisms, but the administrative heads of the University continue to provide leadership in methods and procedures which make WSSU a bigger and better institution.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

Wide-eyed and inspired, but in a state of utter confusion and bewilderment, the freshmen arrived on campus, finding themselves standing in everlasting lines during their registration. After a hectic day of deciding at the last minute what to major in, the freshmen started getting themselves acquainted with the campus and new friends.

Relieved and finding their adjustment to college life perhaps a little easier than they had imagined, the freshmen found themselves getting involved with joining clubs and settling down to studying and enjoying college life as they became a part of the Ram family

The S.G.A., as it presently operates, is the official spokesman for the student body regarding all matters that pertain directly or indirectly to students. As part of its diversified functions, it acts as custodian for the S.G.A. funds in conjunction with the business office.

Manned by a senior president, who is elected by popular vote, and two representatives from each of the four classes, the S.G.A. this year adopted an all-embracing program of activities.

The purpose of the Student Religious Council is to strengthen religious life on the campus of Winston-Salem State University by sponsoring activities that are directly or indirectly related to religion.

The Council chooses to encourage and inspire youth to rally to Christ by presenting the word of God, and Christ, the Son of God as the answer to all ills and problems. Christian youth are given the opportunity to fellowship together, and share the spiritual blessings found in Christ. This fellowship serves as an invitation, and an outreach to others to know Christ.

Years ago an "idea" was born, an "idea" to organize interested college men into a group who had as its basic purpose, achievement in education and subsequent areas of life.

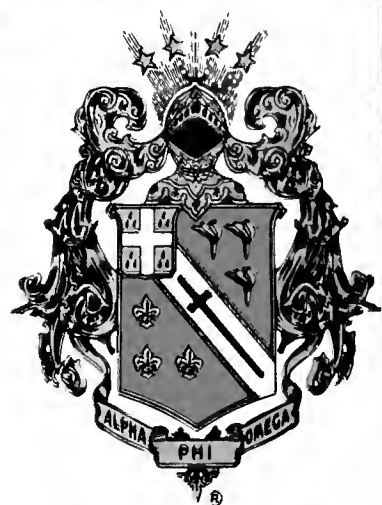

History does not designate one specific person as being the originator of the "idea," but it does relate that ten men banded together and organized a social fraternal group for men and from this nucleus came the "idea" KAPPA ALPHA PSI FRATERNITY.

Initiating probates in both the Fall and Spring semesters, the men of Kappa Alpha Psi added six new brothers to its fold for 1972-73. Its probation provided a colorful activity for the W.S.S.U. campus and gave inspiration to the overall University spirit.

ΑΦΩ

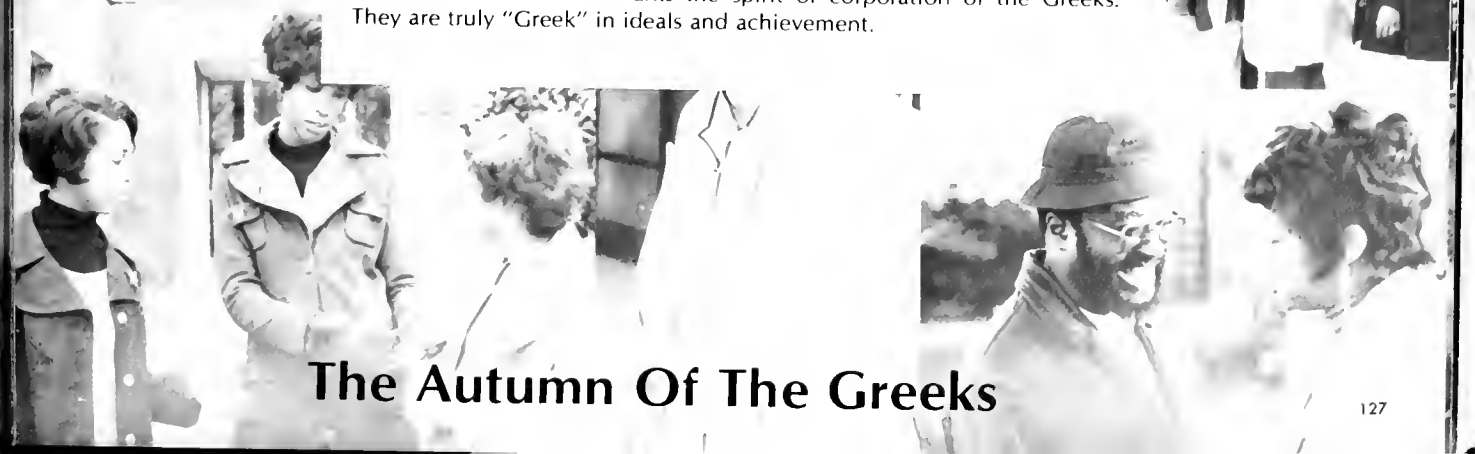

Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity was founded December 16, 1925, at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa. Its purpose is "To assemble college men in the fellowship of the Scout Oath and Law, to develop friendship and promote service to humanity."

From Alpha to Omega, the Greek-letter organizations of Winston Salem State University represent a major portion of campus extra-curricular activities. With a common subscription to a spirit of "brotherhood," the fraternities and sororities work hand-in-hand in promoting activities beneficial to the welfare of others.

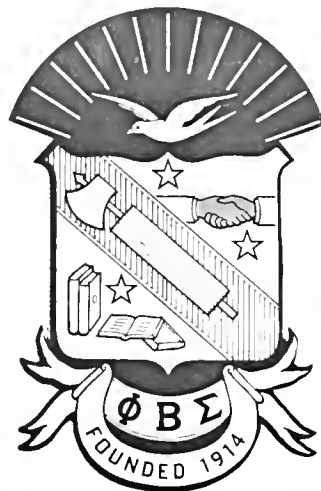

An unselfish attitude marks the spirit of corporation of the Greeks. They are truly "Greek" in ideals and achievement.

Junior Class Officers

The mighty foundation of the Rams will be left in the hands of the junior class, the future seniors of the next school year, to build on what has been strengthened by previous senior classes.

The Ram family is like one body; but without the nucleus of a strong leadership by the upcoming seniors, the body can weaken and fall. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the junior class to pledge their hearts, minds, and souls to carry on the standards, achievements, and goals that have been willed to them by the graduating class of 1973. So, juniors, strive to do your best and only the best will be your outcome.

The Events . . . The Coronation Ball

Continuing to make its impact on our campus, the 1972 Coronation Ball again claimed its role as a permanent event at the University

In the spotlight that night, Mrs. CLENDIS NORRIS, our dear and charming "Miss WSSU" officially assumed her responsibility by having the crown placed on her head by our Chancellor, Dr. Kenneth R. Williams

Miss WSSU — with other queens and sponsors at her side, created an image we will long remember

With this signal event, the stage was set for a weekend of gaiety and fun, our annual Homecoming Celebration

Of Homecoming

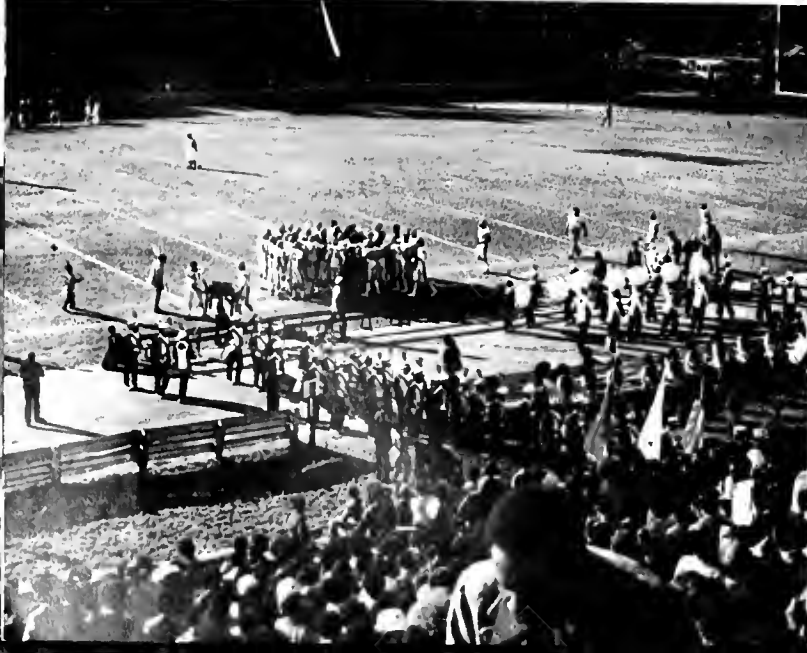

Homecoming Activities

The day many of us had looked forward to, the occasion most talked about, Homecoming. Finally it arrived. The 1972 event was the biggest, happiest and, as usual, the most wonderful occasion of the school year.

The entire campus was agog in excitement amid the rush of incoming friends, preparations for the parade, and the giant welcome to alumni.

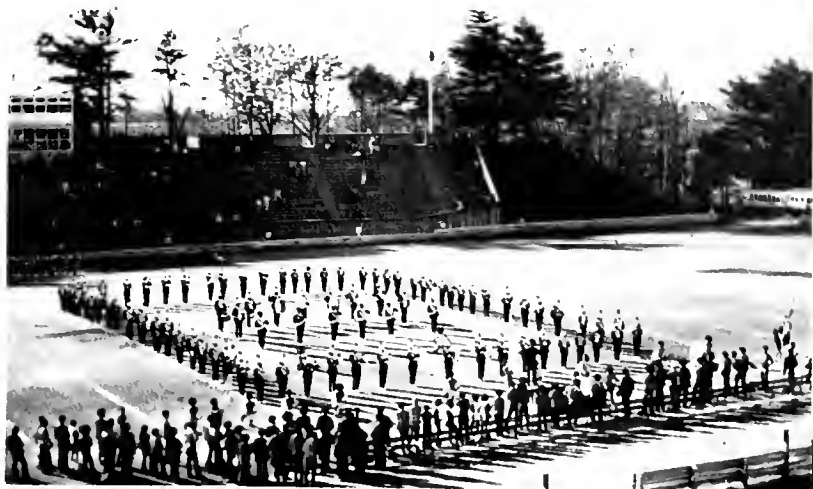

For sentimental reasons "Homecoming" is, without a doubt, the most exciting occasion in the entire school year. To the present college family it means an opportunity for festivities, celebration, and true expression of the Ram spirit. For the graduates and friends of the University it means reunion, recapitulation of time spent within these academic portals, and an occasion to observe people of similar vocations and professions as they assemble to commemorate and enjoy "HOMECOMING".

The Taste Of Victory How Sweet It Is

Rams!

Rams!

Rams!

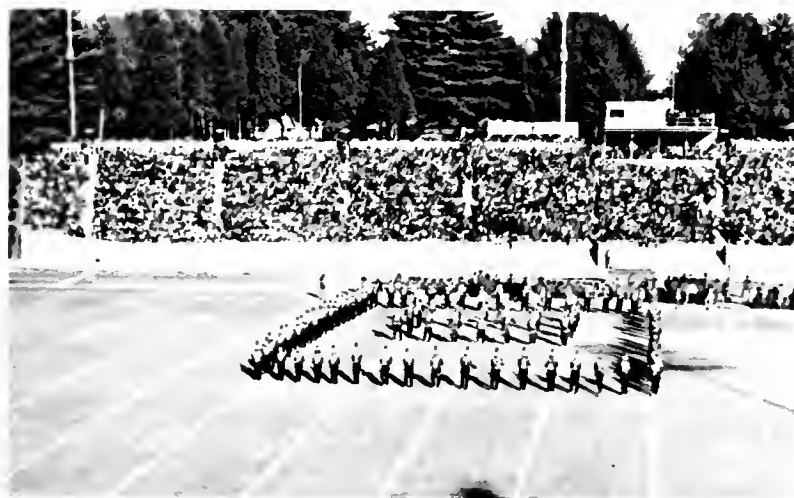

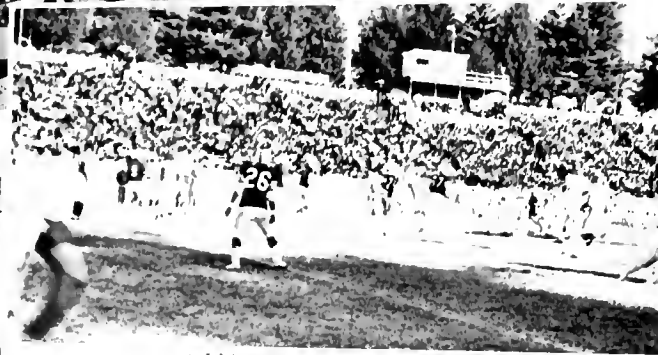

The "pride and joy" of Ramland is its famed marching band. The popular music, exciting marching steps, skillful formation — all thrilled thousands as the band took the field. Under the directorship of Mr. R. E. Shepherd and Mr. F. D. Tanner, the band performs with perfection.

The Senior Class found four years at Winston-Salem State Univ. intellectually stimulating, rewarding, but at times a little trying. Although the year marked completion of undergraduate studies for them, it was just the beginning for new loyalties for the Alma Mater, for "once a Ram, always a Ram."

With mixed emotions the class faced graduation remembering half forgotten incidents of fun and laughter, cramming for exams, treasured friendships, cheering at games, many and endless lines, and those experiences which are a part of college life and growing into adulthood.

We, the Senior Class, have accomplished many of the goals we set for ourselves as freshmen. We are no longer as unwise, only wiser.

After another Livingstone punt McCrary and Garner teamed up again, this time on a 43-yard scoring strike, and it was 19-0 with the first quarter not yet over.

The game was close for most of the first half with Winston-Salem State using a crunching ground game to keep the ball away from the swift Lenoir Rhyne running backs.

The Bears got a quick score on their first possession when freshman Mike Robinson took a pitch from quarterback Paul Black and dashed across the goal line from five yards out with only 2:28 on the clock.

But the Rams' defense stiffened and the next Lenoir Rhyne touchdown didn't come until midway through the second quarter when Black sneaked over from the one-yard line. The score was set up by a 52-yard punt return by the Bears' Tim Thick.

The Rams quickly struck back, getting their rushing game in gear and taking the ball 65 yards in eight plays with Londell McClary scoring on a one-yard plunge.

The big play in the Winston-Salem State drive came on a fourth-and-six play at the Lenoir Rhyne 13. McClary threw a pass into the end zone

The score that may have ended WSS' chances for a win came with only 45 seconds left in the first half.

On a third-and-22 situation at the Lenoir Rhyne 47, Mike McWhirter took a handoff on a well executed draw play and bolted down the left sideline for a touchdown to put the Bears up 19-6 at intermission.

Lenoir Rhyne settled for a 37-yard field goal by Tommy Ross on its first series of the second half. But it got a touchdown on its next possession when Robinson sneaked on back-to-back plays to Jhn Moretz, to take the Bears 75 yards in only two plays for a quick touchdown.

After that, Lenoir Rhyne capitalized on two Ram errors to get its final two scores.

Early in the fourth quarter, Winston-Salem's McClary leaped into the air to attempt a jump pass but came down without the ball.

Lenoir Rhyne recovered, and two plays later, substitute quarterback Mike Everett fooled the entire Ram defensive unit by bootlegging

The extra-curricular activities which maintain the greatest interest of the University community are undoubtedly "Sports." Participation in Football, Basketball, Track, or Baseball, as a player or spectator, provides the basic motivation for the maintenance of school spirit — the very "life" of the University itself. Winston-Salem State University has consistently manifested in its players, through indoctrination, the importance of "give and take" as well as the satisfying rewards of "fair play." Exemplification of these basic assets has kept us among the top rate teams of the conference.

The loss drops Winston-Salem State's record in the CIAA Southern Division to 2-1 while Johnson, Smith is now 3-0 in the Lenoir Rhyne play.

The Mighty Rams

The Rams front line was rated among the best in the conference. Dubbed "The Mighty Rams" by sportswriters in pre-season columns, Sandy Smith, Earl Williams, and Arthur Chavious terrorized opponents all year long.

Combining muscle with quickness and good shooting, the big three complemented each other. On the defensive boards, the Rams were able to take the ball down quickly, and set up Coach Gaines patented fast break. On the offense, each was a potent scoring threat — each led in scoring at one time or another.

The Rams' Wrestling Team

Wrestling is on the verge of becoming one of the most popular sports in the Rams line-up of athletics.

Outlining the Rams first year in competition with some outstanding performances were Clarence Cox, a freshman from Smithfield, N. C. He has gone thus far undefeated with a 3-0 record, and has 2 pins to his credit. Terry Skeen, a freshman from Thomasville, N. C. has 4 wins and only 1 loss, and has a total of 4 pins. Finally, Curtis Phifer, a sophomore from Charlotte, N. C. has won 4 matches and lost only 2.

Coached by Baxter Holman, the Rams' wrestling team should become one of the great powers in the CIAA.

Tennis at W.S.S.U. was on its way up as this issue of the Ram was on its way to press. In Sandy Smith, Winston-Salem State University had one of their most outstanding and most exciting basketball players in a long time. Instrumental in creating both team spirit and Ram spirit, Sandy was a rare talent and a completely unselfish individual who has won the hearts of all Ram followers everywhere. Averaging over 24 points a game and hitting almost 50 per cent of his shots, Sandy Smith exhibited true All-American credentials.

The CIAA does not believe in change. Winston-Salem State and Norfolk State were the top teams in the 1971-72 season and the same two teams are favored again in 1972-73.

Winston-Salem should win the Southern Division, Norfolk State is the Northern Division favorite and is also picked to win the CIAA tournament which would end them into the college division NCAA playoffs.

Winston-Salem has everyone back from last year's team, except Ralph Jones. The starters are Earl Williams, Sandy Smith, Harold Kitt, Bobby Garner and Arthur Chavis. Sophomores Larry Miller, James Peques and Marvin Belton should play a lot. The Rams will play a run-and-shoot offense.

Christmas Is Kid Stuff

The smart guys tell me that Christmas is Kid Stuff . . . Maybe they've got something there — Two thousand years ago three wise men followed a star across a continent to bring frankincense and myrrh to a child in a manger. This year many of the organizations tried to get back some of that Kid Stuff by bringing a little Christmas into the lives of a group of local kids. The children's Christmas party, the highlight of several of the campus fraternities winter activities, demonstrated that not all of college is books and beer. There are those who care.

NURSING SCHOOL IS ACCREDITED

The School of Nursing here at Winston-Salem State University received notice on December 8, 1972, that it had been accredited by the National League for Nursing, the national accrediting agency for schools of nursing. Earlier this year — in September — a three member accrediting team from the league spent four days on the university campus, and the league used their report, along with a self-study report from the school itself, as the basis for granting accreditation. This was the first visit made by the league.

The university has had a nursing program since 1953 and currently offers a four-year program leading to a baccalaureate degree.

The school is also accredited by the State Board of Nursing, and its graduates are qualified to take the board's tests for registered nurses. Mrs. Mary S. Isom, class of 1957, is the Dean of the School.

The Ram Staff

The members of the staff of the 1973 edition of the Ram have worked diligently to produce for you a yearbook which would portray in some small way the activities of WSSU student body during the 1972-73 year.

Our yearbook's primary purpose was to recapture moments spent by the students while in college. Each picture and article that is held in the bounds of this volume is to give the reader a broad scope as to how the Ram Family worked, played, lived and associated with each other, hour after hour, day after day, month after month.

The Ram Yearbook Staff was capably advised by Mr. Roland S. Watts, whose assistance and guidance were instrumental in the final culmination of this publication.

We are proud to present this, the 1973 RAM.

Tapes, sound filmstrips, games, programmed texts and kits stimulate creative activity that makes learning enjoyable for students. Freedom to create their own materials is encouraged, and many have gone into dimensional studies that have been very rewarding.

Students also go to the Enrichment Center to have group discussions before a test, to listen to a lecture on tape that they had missed, to find "music to study," or to find ideas for making class reports different.

The 3 Seasons At WSSU

Fall

Students find themselves involved with many extracurricular activities: Pledging,— belonging to clubs and organizations.

Student life also evolves around the relationship of student with student, dormitory living, dating and achieving in academic, social and cultural affairs.

Fall is attending football games, preparing for Homecoming, and adjusting to rigid schedules after a summer of relaxation.

Winter

Despite all of its negative attributes, weather, cold and short days, winter still in the college community is one of the most delightful periods in the college year.

We developed a closeness which could not have come about in the wide open spaces of fall and spring, and because of these situations we buckled down to the real reason we came to college . . . It's a season of serious thinking . . . a season of understanding . . . and a season of basketball.

Spring

The rigors of fall preparation and drab of winter had passed . . . then came spring, without question, the happiest and most pleasant season of the Winston Salem State Univ. year.

The hustle and bustle of college life changes its tempo to a quieter, more relaxing atmosphere. Our year is set, our objectives clear, and the "knowledge explosion" has had its impact . . . we're in the mood for college.

Though the days are longer, but slip away far too rapidly, far too quickly the time for commencement arrives, a pleasant dream for most, but often, the graduating senior faces the event with mixed emotions . . . who wishes to complete college, and who doesn't, right then.

For some, spring is the season for fulfillment, for others a break along the road of preparation.

Student Counseling Center

WHY COUNSELING?

Perhaps the best way to illustrate the kinds of concerns which are discussed with counselors is to quote some of the statements which have been made by students.

"I'd like to take a vocational aptitude test."

"I want to find out about myself."

"You know, I just can't get along with . . ."

"I wonder what I really want to do with my life."

"I'd like some help in choosing a major."

"I feel scared and depressed."

"I just feel kind of empty inside."

"I need help with my marriage."

WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA 27102

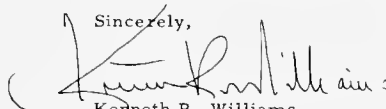

Greetings:

The entire Winston-Salem State University Family is indebted to the Senior Class and to the Class Advisor, Mr. Roland Watts, for this excellent yearbook. It portrays Winston-Salem State University in a most acceptable way.

This book was designed to provide the reader and viewer with a picture of life as it is on the Winston-Salem State campus. It highlights the academic areas but reveals also that we live in a community which appreciates cultural events, sports, beauty and fun.

I trust that members of the Senior Class and other students will cherish this yearbook through the years as a reminder of some of the most pleasant days of their lives.

Sincerely,

Kenneth R. Williams
Chancellor

Exultingly we raise thy name,
O Winston-Salem State University.

As we go forth from old State U.
Good leaders we will always be.
And care for all humanity
As you've taught us, State University.

In all we do we shall proclaim
To all the world thy enduring fame,
As we go forth we praise thy name.
O Winston-Salem State University.

THE ALUMNI AT WORK

Since 1936 the Alumni Association has played an important role in the University's history and growth. In every undertaking of the institution, graduates have joined forces to make its influence felt throughout the nation. Today, as the University faces a more demanding future, the WSSU Alumni Association stands ready and able to continue its efforts and support in building a more colorful heritage for this great institution.

WHO IS THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Winston-Salem State University Alumni Association is composed of graduates and former students of Slater Industrial School — Winston-Salem Teachers College — Winston-Salem State College — and Winston-Salem State University.

If one has attended any of the above for any amount of time, they are considered an Alumnus of what is presently known as Winston-Salem State University.

WHAT IT DOES

Promotes and Plans such activities that will support the WSSU objectives.

Plans and Promotes such activities that will maintain continuous communications between the Alumni at WSSU.

Plans and Promotes annual programs that will bring the association together for both business and social purposes.

Discovers, refers and supports high school graduates who may have good potentials for attendance.

Promotes community activities that will first contribute to the betterment of the community and secondly to a better understanding between community and University.

ANNUAL ACTIVITIES

The Association offers SCHOLARSHIP help to students who have been accepted to matriculate at WSSU.

During the year, the Association holds its ALUMNI BALL either in October or November (when Miss Alumni) is crowned, and the Alumni Cabaret and dance.

The big event, UNITY DAY, is held in March. This has been held in different cities throughout the country.

May is the time for ALUMNI DAY. This is the day that the Alumni Business meeting is held on the campus and officers are sworn into office.

THE ALUMNI HUT

Located on the campus, we have office space on the first floor, and on the second floor, we have sleeping quarters and a meeting room. These are used by the Association for meetings and sleeping quarters are used by alumnus who are visiting in the Winston-Salem area.
